TEXT OF BR. ALI MASSER MOHAMED SPEECH AT THE SCIENTIFIC SYMPOSIUM
ON THE STAGE OF DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL REVOLUTION

Aden/11th Feb/ANA--

Comrades,

Friends participants,

It is a great pleasure that this crowd of progressive scientists and intellectuals meet in Aden the Revolution to take part in the works of scientific symposium on the democratic national revolution which will tackle lessons and characters of the revolution experience in the Peoples democratic Republic of Yemen. On this occasion it pleases me to greet you in the name of the Central Committee of our Yemeni Socialist Party, its Polit Bureau and in the name of our Party members and our people masses wishing this symposium all success in its works and to come out with results that will contribute in the process of theoretical qualification of the revolutionary process experience in our country under leadership of our Yemeni Socialist Party which with all its lessons, characters and combative relics form practical contribution in the struggle of the international revolutionary process resisting the world imperialist regime aimed at construction of new human world, world of socialism and peace.

It also pleases me to welcome warmly all comrades and friends who attended to our country to take part in the works of this symposium wishing them happy residence in our country and success in their noble scientific task and affirm to them pride of our country people, Party and government for all theoretical, intellectual and journalist contributions which contributed in acquainting our revolutionary experiment, analyse it by several comrades and friends who are present among us at present and also those who whom their circumstances did not allow them to take part in this symposium.

It is a great coincidence that this symposium correspond with celebrations on martyres day through which our Party and people consolidate loyalty and respect to sacrifices and heroisms of the martyres of revolution.

Comrades: INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON THE REVOLUTION IN DEMOCRATIC YEMEN

The holding of this international scientific symposium devoted to assessment of Revolution experiment in Democratic Yemen gains vital importance as it comes under the aegis of progressive successes achieved in various current revolutionary practical fields in our country under leadership of the Yemeni Socialist Party and with close link of strengthening of Arab liberation movement struggle against various conspiratorial and aggressive plans and policies of imperialist forces and its Zionist and reactionary stances in the Arab region as the experience of 14th October revolution in Democratic Yemen forms important factor in the march of the national and social liberatory struggle of our Arab peoples and its national and progressive forces.

No doubt that the theoretical documents and activities being included in this symposium will be good chance for analysing characters of revolutionary development in our country in the light of theoretical matters connected with study and analysing aspects and kinds of the Arab and international liberation movement and trends of its topical development in the course of international revolutionary process. We are confident that outcome of the theoretical effort being shouldered by your symposium will gain scientific and political value in the course of efforts being exerted by our Party and scientific institutions at the aim of starting writing of Yemeni revolution history and reinforce the ideological activity of our Party during this important period of our national, class and internationalist struggle.

We do not exaggerate to say that the holding of this scientific symposium came to crown the political, intellectual and information activities witnessed by our country during the previous year 1983 in the course of expanded celebrations on the several important national occasions such as the 20th anniversary of 14th October Revolution, 5th anniversary of establishment of the Party and 16th anniversary of the national independence etc. of revolutionary occasions and accomplishments which consolidate connection of national and social struggle bands of our people and reflects the ^{increasing} progressive direction of the revolutionary process existing in our society.

In spite to that this scientific symposium is being held within the framework of paying attention to assessment of the historical experience of the Yemeni 14th October revolution as it is regarded an important transition step in the struggle of national liberation movement in Yemen, we may say that the main characters of 14th October democratic national revolution ignited from Radfan mountains in 1963 were formed and crystalised as an extension of the Yemeni national movement struggle against colonialism and its local reactionary stanchues. In reliance to topical developments of the political and social real movement in our country in particular and developments of international revolutionary process in general.

Since the beginning the Yemeni national movement consolidated its objectives, slogans, forms and methods of its combat and tied national and social struggle of the Yemeni people with the general course of Arab and international liberation movement under the increased influence of world class forces balance which become shaking in the interest of socialism and liberation forces following the victory of the Soviet Union against Nazism and Fascism in Europe and establishment of the Socialist Community. At the same rate the progressive topical direction of the Yemeni national movement struggle was growing within the framework of consciouss and activity of the toiling social classes which were under backwardness and colonialist domination, class injustice, suffocating isolation and politica division of the unique Yemeni homeland whereas the colonialist culture and reactionary ideologies were exercising negative influence on the social and spiritual life on our people under circumstances of strong backwardness of productive forces, weakness of cultural structure and dedicating the political division between sons of unique homeland on the level of the two parts of Yemen on the one hand and on the level of southern part which was in turn devided to tribal entities on the other hand.

with its deep effects on the new developments in the Yemeni National movements the colonialism attempting in different ways in suppressing the National movements and its revolutionary horizons and due to the laws and ordinance which makes the colonialism takes certain repressive measures against the progressive national elements and on stressing upon an atrocious manner for the purpose of isolating the peoples from their leadership movements union which forms the main political power in national movements and also the colonialism endeavoured to appear some reconcialition elements between the classes of small bourgeouse in a popular manner in order to frustrate the possible aims in leading the masses movements in order to decline the purport of the National liberation in saying that the conflict which waged by the Progressive National Forces against the reconciliation forces elements and its exploiters, in which they had attempted to obliterate the Trade Union movements which is considered an important factor, in continuing the struggle towards the deepening of the national combat against the colonialism, sultanic regime and its lackeys, side by side in confronting the exploiters of the reconciliation leaders in the Trade Union movements which at the end have dropped herself to the influence of the colonialism and reaction and transforming it to enemies sites for the struggling of the National Liberation movements and the establishment of the 14th October revolution started in 1963 which interprets the political developments and intellectual in the march of the Yemeni National Liberation.

Dear Comrades,

The National forces in Democratic Yemen has doubled its efforts in activating a number of internal and external circumstances which has been established by the

by the 26 th September revolution in 1962 in the northern part of the homeland, and the uplifting of the Arab National liberation against colonialism and zionism in this regard which must rest assured by the prominent role of the vanguard which has played by the NLF, the political organisation under the leadership of the 14th October Revolution and its developments, which includes the NLF a number of organisations Political societies, National Personalities, and the struggling societies against the colonialism and its stooges in the cities and rural , which has adopted the use and means of the Peoples armed struggle to the side of the political combat for the liberation of its national independence, and the means of the military, political combat at the same time, during the construction of peoples Liberation army in the rural country, and forming groups of armed commandos in the city, in addition to the prominent role in the leadership of the Trade union movement and ~~organizing~~ organisations for students women, and works in the sports clubs.

If it is possible in saying that 14th October Revolution establishment of political forces in which representing the political power and opportunist in the National movements and her collapse in the mire of bargaining with the colonialism and the treason resolution for the national issue in participating the crystallisation of the revolution democratic base in alliance with the social classes of the toilers is the right interest in national liberation progress social which reflects on the developments of the revolution, politically, classicly, ideological, organisational, which has crowned with the accomplishment of the national independence on 30th November, 1967 which opened the way for our people in marching with their revolution developments, and on this path, the operation has been completed in transforming revolutionaries, democracy to the working classes sites.

It is worth mentioning, that the small bourgeoisie which is going to represent new danger to the revolution after the independence, and which has meant the prime factor for the actions in deepening the contents of the national authority and rooting the economic social transformations in our society and establishing firm revolution ally between the groups of the progressive National Labour which has been crystalised towards a tangible in uniting all the revolutionary forces within the framework of the political organisation (the NLF) and reinforced this unity more and more after frustrating the inclinations of the leftist opportunist which has been revealed through the level of the organisation and authority in pavement of constructing the Yemeni workers class Party, is the Yemeni Socialist Party which today is still continuing the practical revolution leadership in Democratic Yemen in completing the democratic National revolution stages towards the socialist horizons.

In this framework, we have no alternative, in renewing the indications in order to decide the means revolution class leadership and non-bargaining hesitation in confronting all the conspiracies and challenges, which aims in emptying the contents of the revolution from its national democratic to open the way among the maintenance and deepen the national independence and to develop the national democratic authority with the horizons of socialist trends as it describes the only way which put confidence to the liberated countries from colonialism and its possibilities in limiting its economic body and to strengthen its productive forces and to improve the living standard of the peoples which doesn't make the restoration of the historical circumstances which enables under the aegis of the imperialist productive relations in these countries, to be developed in an independent manner, and to uphold the historical national role to be played by the developed national states.

In order to reveal such classes bodies with optimism and to mobilize, politically economically, intellectually, and the international imperialist which will effect the independence in these countries in their economic and their national cultural.

which is above all the lively means which links the struggle towards the means of solution after the independence with a firm confrontation for the Yemeni inclinations for some representatives of social groups which participated in the national alliance which based towards 14th October since its ignition in a just issues contradicting between the colonialism and its lackeys from such direct, among the masses people from different classes of the people and its national social groups hostile to the colonialism on the other hand, and all the means of the dialogue of the works of the fourth Congress of the NLF which has been held in March 68, after the Independence, in which the progressive trends in the NLF enabled in his expression the vision of the tasks of the new stages horizons which crystalised in its extraction of the Congress with a progressive resolutions which aims at deepening the Democratic Revolutionary contents of the Political organisation of the NLF and to consolidate the leadership role and construction of national authority of democratic bases progressive laws expressing the interest of the masses of toiling people in realising the democratic agricultural Reform and constructing Masses organisations and societies, and to purify the state machineries from the elements hostile to the revolution and to occupy the Liberation Army leadership instead of the old army and to nationalize companies foreign banks and pursued the liberation foreign policy.

22nd Corrective June forms a historical task in marching with the Yemeni Revolutionary movements on the base of commitments with the scientific socialist and to consolidate the leadership role in organising the developments for the spiritual values and the combat Party tradition based to the principles of Democratic Central collective leadership which provides the conditions in deepening the contents of democratic authority and its carriers in social change.

Comrades

The hold of the fifth and sixth Congresses : or the Political organisation the NLF for 1972, and 1975, 14th October revolution entered with the new developments in the march of progressive in which it has been limited in these two congresses in a clear manner the final commitments of the scientific socialist ideology, on the basis of leadership and direction of revolutionary in adopting the Democratic National Revolution stages programme which limited the task and aims of this transitional stage, to personify the base classes forces to the side of this programmewhich provides for the internal regime which has adopted and developing in both the conference expanded possibilities to a better traditional of the Party and its developments benefitting from the experiences from the workers Classes Party which Democratic Yemen achieved for the first time, in linking the political party works with the economic life of the societies and that comes up from the construction of Party Base and Masses organisation in different utilities work and productive studies, and armed forces and also consolidate towards the further relations in alliance with democratic national and the NLF, Union peoples Democratic and the Vanguard Peoples Party on the basis of commitments with the scientific socialist programme of the Democratic National Revolution stages which has been crowned with the alliance of the hold of the unified congress in establishing political organisation in October ,1978 as it describes the Yemeni workers Party.

These progressive transformations which has been led by the Party and implemented by the authority at the level of internally and externally policy, whihh puts the Yemen revolution from the Arab National Movements, internationally and consolidate the role in backing the struggle opposing imperialism-zionism and reaction and its strategic allies with the international revolutionary lackey forces.

Comrades,

Our Yemeni people and our Arab peoples who found the Soviet Union a close friend and supported them with honest assistance for the cause of their just struggle victory are proud of their friendship with the Soviet Union and are highly value the attitudes of the Soviet Union. We affirm our determination to continue development of Arab-Soviet friendship and we should point out that our Party and people recieved with deep sorrow demise news of Comrade Yuri Anderopov Secretary General of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party and Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet Council. I have personally knew Anderopov and found him not only leader of the Soviet Party and State but also firm militant for the cause of victory of Socialism and Peace principles in the world. I have known him close friend of our Yemeni people and our Arab peoples. While we convey our warmest condolences to our Soviet friends and comrades we also possess unlimited confidence that the Soviet people and its glorious Party will continue the same combative traditions /of his heros and great people/ the struggle on the path drawn by Lenin in order to become concepts and laws of the scientific socialism real and bright rallity on the international scope.

Comrades,

Our Party has defined in its programme and documents objectives of strategic revolution for which cause struggled the national liberation movement in Yemen as it is regarded its developed extension and honest to its national and class issues.

In this framework the struggle for realizing the Yemeni unity of democratic progressive content gains principled importance as it is considered of the most noble and great strategic objectives of the struggle of our Yemeni people and its contrary revolutionary movement which its ignition and edvelopment forms revolutionary answer against the fact of colonialism, Imamate and division as appeared brightly unity of combative feelings and national traditions of our people and unity of organisations and national progressive forces in the North and South in uniuqe destiny.

Therefore, all sessionist and opportunist Parties, Organisations and forces fallen down, none remained at the arena of popular struggle except the national and progressive forces which believed in the issue of Yemeni unity and placed it in their slogans and objectives and it practically consolidated it in the course of its political, intellectual, organisational and mass activities.

Our people and its national progressive forces could foil all colonialist projects and plans which aimed at defacing the Yemeni national personality and strike the Yemeni revolutionary movement and dedicate the reality of occupation, backwardness and division where for ever fallen all sessionist and isolationist appeals and concepts which differed in demanding self ruling of Aden under the slogan of Aden of Adenis, appeals to annex Aden to Commonwealth British group and ending with illfamed appeals of sessionist League Party which was calling for constructing a modern State for sons of South Arabian etc. of sessionist and reactionary appeals. Our national combative inheritance contains bright photos of the national and class struggle unity of our Yemeni people in the two parts of the homeland which was crowned with establishment of the glorious 26th September and 14th October revolutions and contribution of our people masses in whole homeland in defending them against various aggressive internal and external challenges.

In this regard we should say that the victory of 14th October revolution and its success in constructing and developing the national authority of the democratic peoples content in south homeland and its emanation under the leadership of our Yemeni Socialist Party in continuing completion of tasks of democratic national revolution stage of the socialist horizons. All this does not mean to our Party and people halt of struggle for realizing unity of Yemeni homeland land and people on peaceful and democratic bases/ despite that the Yemeni unity issue is one of national democratic tasks for which our Party and people struggle as it is considered strategic objective of the Yemeni revolution objectives it also enters within framework of current tasks linked with necessities of defending the Yemeni revolution and protect the progressive regime in south homeland and confront machinations and conspiracies of imperialist and reactionary forces which bet on dedicating division in the unique Yemeni homeland as a method for hindering development of revolutionary process and besiege of the progressive regime in the southern part of Yemen, regionally and Arabian and surround it with tension spheres and instability and local civil wars and attempting to expell it of practical contribution in our Arab peoples struggle against conspiratorial plans and aggressive expansionist policies being faced by the imperialist-zionist and reactionary alliance.

Our Yemeni Socialist Party has placed the Yemeni unity issue within its topical framework when it affirmed in its programme that our Party could not be unified in the internationalist field with international revolutionary movement without being unified also in the Arab field with the Arab revolutionary movement. It also could not be unified Arab and internationally without being based mainly on unity of its national and class attitude in the field of Yemeni homeland as a whole.

In this direction our Yemeni Socialist Party in reliande to the grwoing of role and position of the working class in the society will continue side by side with all patriots, honests and all toiling masses in whole Yemen will continue defending issues of our national and social people and realization of the strategic objectives of the revolution before all construction of unified and prosperous democratic Yemen.

All progressive transformations witnessed by the revolutionary process in the country, were firmly connected with the development of the leadership role of the Yemeni Socialist Party which was established in 1978 to crown accomplishments of political, intellectual and organisation combat of the vanguard forces in our revolutionary movement based on the position and role of the social toiling classes in the society topped by the workers class and inspire ideas of scientific socialism in tackling the issues of national democratic revolution. The establishment of the Yemeni Socialist Party came to form decisive factor and preventive fence to secure position and role of the workers class and its allies for the realization of social progress of the socialist trend.

The experiment of revolution in our country has proved not only the possibility of victory of political, intellectual and organisational programme of the workers class and its allies in stage of the national democratic revolution but it also proved in addition to that on issue of leadership of the Party of working class for the process of completing the tasks of the stage which regarded necessary term of the terms of the social development of the Socialist trend in the national liberation movement in which interlaced tasks of the national social liberation unseparately and doest justify omittance of importance of the struggle for the cause of securing and reinforcing the leadership role of the workers class Party and its allies in the stage of the national democratic revolution of the Socialist horizons.

In this direction our Yemeni Socialist Party has decided to... the granting of role and condition of the working class in the society will... continue side by side with all patriots, farmers and all fellow workers... in this Yemen will continue following banner of our national and social... people and realization of the strategic objectives of the revolution... before all considerations of selfish and regressive economic...
